ELECTION OF COMMISSIONERS

Topic of Intense Interest in City--Some Probable Candidates

Mayor Stafford, J. R. Cutchin, E. A. Brown and W. T. Sergeant Probable Candidates--Candidates Must File Announcements and Fee Before April 14 To Be Eligible.

The interest in the coming election of commissioners for the city under the commission form of government is becoming more pronounced each day and the aspirants for the several offices are busily sounding their friends preliminary to launching their commissionership booms.

So far no announcements have been made, but it is understood that Mayor E. J. Stafford will be a candidate for the office of Commissioner of Accounts and Finances, the office of mayor included being conferred on this commissioner; and J. R. Cutchin, at present chairman of the street commission will be a candidate for the office of Commissioner of Public Safety. E. A. Brown is considering becoming a candidate for Commissioner of Accounts and Finances and will probably make an announcement of his candidacy within the next few days. Several others are being mentioned for the above offices.

So far no one has decided to become a candidate for the office of Commissioner of Public Works. It is believed that if W. T. Sergeant, who has been chairman of the Water and Light Commission for several years, can be prevailed upon to become a candidate, he will have no opposition.

The new charter provides that all candidates must file with the city clerk a fee of $5 on or before April 14 and the city clerk must publish in the city papers all names of candidates, specifying the office for which they are candidates, for three days in succession. The general primary will be held on April 24 and the general election comes on Tuesday, May 2.

The Board of Aldermen meet next Monday night to elect registrars and judges for the primary and election. It is likely that the city will be divided into two precincts with Elm street as the dividing line, provision for this having been made in the charter.

NEW OFFICERS ARE NAMED FOR K. T. COMMANDERY

Ivanhoe Commandery, No. 8, Knights Templar, elected officers at a conclave held last night, when the following were named:

The installation of the new officers will occur at an early date prior to April first, and a special conclave will be assembled for the purpose of witnessing the installation ceremonies.

Sale At St. George Scored Big Hit.

St. George, S. C., March 1.—The sale conducted yesterday by the Piedmont Realty & Auction Company, of Greensboro, was a howling success. The sale was conducted by R. L. England and thousands of people were on the grounds. That the bidding was spirited is evidenced by the fact that the lots sold brought more than $14,000. The people of St. George are speaking today in most complimentary terms of Mr. England's powers as an auctioneer. Mch. 3. It.

Southern Train Late.

Owing to the heavy travel from New Orleans Southern Vestibule train No. 38, New Orleans to New York, was an hour late last night.

NEW MEMBERS ARE WANTED

Chamber of Commerce Committee Plans Increased Membership.

At a meeting of the committee on new members of the Chamber of Commerce, held Thursday night, a campaign for additional members of the organization was planned. Steps were taken toward making a systematic canvass of the city for new members. The campaign will begin at once and will be pushed vigorously.

The membership of the Chamber of Commerce is now above four hundred, but it is believed that a hundred or more new members can be added to this number. It is the intention of the new members committee to begin a campaign to increase the membership to five hundred, at least; and, if possible, the high water mark will be placed above that number.

Great activity is being displayed by the officers of the Chamber and the body is striving earnestly to accomplish the largest possible amount of good for the city. That the membership ought to be one thousand is the opinion of many citizens; and those who are most enthusiastic about the work of the organization believe a systematic campaign for new members will result in securing several hundred.

PRESTON CUP WILL BE CONTESTED FOR AT UNIVERSITY

Chapel Hill, N. C., March 3.—The contest for the Ben Smith Preston memorial cup, awarded for the best work of a journalistic nature done in the University, has been formally opened.

All undergraduate students are eligible to enter this contest and it is expected that a large number will take advantage of this opportunity. The work has to be handed in to the head of the English department by the first of April. Last year the committee of judges, consisting of Editors Clarence Poe, of the Progressive Farmer; Josephus Daniels, of the Raleigh News and Observer, and Hight C. Moore, of the Biblical Recorder, awarded the cup to Brevard D. Stevenson, of the class of 1912, then the sophomore class. The cup is now on exhibition in the Carnegie Library.

Next year's Y. M. C. A. officers were nominated at the meeting of the Y. M. C. A. last night. They are: John C. Lockhart, president; Fred B. Drane, vice president; C. E. Norman, secretary; W. D. Barbee, treasurer. These nominations will be confirmed at the next meeting on Tuesday night.

ALLEGED NEGRO THIEF WILL BE RETURNED FROM DANVILLE

Chief of Police Neelley has asked for requisition papers for Joe Brown, colored, who was arrested in Danville Tuesday night on the charge of breaking into the store of A. Horwitz, East Washington street, several nights ago. When arrested Brown had in his possession three suits of clothes that had been taken from Horwitz's store. An officer had prepared to go over after the negro on Wednesday, but he decided at the last minute that he would not come back without requisition papers. These will likely be here today and Brown will be brought back Saturday or Monday.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S SPECIAL SERVICE CHRISTIAN CHURCH

At last night's service at the Christian church the auditorium was filled to its capacity and the interest was more apparent than at former services. At the close of an able sermon by the pastor, Rev. L. E. Smith, there were three professions of conversion and quite a number requested the minister to remember them in prayer.

This afternoon at 3:30 o'clock there will be a special service for young people. Mr. Butler will have charge of the singing and Mrs. Butler will sing a solo. The young people of the city are cordially invited to attend.

Services again tonight at 7:30, a song service to precede the sermon. Everybody is invited.

PUBLIC SERVICE RATES DOWN

Promised Reductions For Gas And Electricity Effective March 1.

Illuminating Gas Reduced Nearly 50 Per Cent—Fuel Gas Increased—Electric Current Down About Twenty Per Cent.

The new rates promised by the North Carolina Public Service Company on gas and electricity became effective March 1. This announcement has been awaited by the consumers of gas and electricity since the statement was made that new rates were to be put into effect. Below is a statement from Mayor Stafford regarding the new rates.

It will be seen that the price of electricity has been reduced considerably. In fact the price to the small consumers, representing about eighty per cent of the consumers of electricity, will be reduced twenty per cent, and the reduction for the other classes of consumers will be at nearly the same ratio. The price for illuminating gas will be reduced from $2.50 to $1.35 per 1,000 cubic feet, subject to a discount of 10 per cent for prompt payment. The price of fuel gas, which has been $1 flat rate, will be increased to $1.35 less 10 per cent, discount.

Last fall the company announced that this rate was to be effective as soon as the new street lighting contract became effective and the company has fulfilled its promise, the contract becoming effective March 1.

Mayor Stafford's communication follows:

To the Citizens of Greensboro:

I wish to announce, after an interview with the authorities of the North Carolina Public Service Company, that they have agreed to inaugurate the following special rates on gas, lights, and power as promised at the time the contract was made for lighting the city. These rates will apply to March bills, as follows:

Gas Rates.

$1.35 for 1,000 cubic feet for each class of service—illuminating and fuel gas, with ten cents discount if paid on or before noon of the 10th of the month.

DANVILLE OFFICER IS AN ESCAPED MURDERER

Chief of Police R. E. Morris Killed a Georgia Man Thirteen Years Ago--Carried to Atlanta Last Night.

Passing through on train No. 32 this morning at 12:50 o'clock was Special Officer J. W. W. Smith, of Carrollton, Ga., having in custody Chief of Police R. E. Morris, of Danville, Va., alias Edward Stripling, who no March 22, 1898, broke jail in Hamilton, Ga., while his appeal from a life sentence for murder was pending in Supreme court.

Officer Smith and his prisoner were seen by a telegram man during the few minutes the train stopped in Greensboro. Chief Morris still wore his uniform, showing the rank of chief, and his handsome gold badge. The only indication that he was a prisoner was the strong manacles that encircled his wrists. He sat across the aisle from the officer and no one would have imagined that he was a prisoner unless he had ever been inside a prison.

The ex-convict-chief of police seemed a little nervous, but he talked readily, telling of the killing and the circumstances leading to the shooting affair. He also expressed the belief that he would speedily secure a pardon from the Georgia governor. The crime was committed on Sept. 4, 1897, and Morris was convicted and given a life sentence on October 16 following. He stated that a man went to the home of his sister and insulted her and was only prevented from committing criminal assault by the timely arrival of a neighbor. The person, whose name he did not mention, had stated that he knew he or Morris must die the first time they met. Consequently he had gone armed and got the first shot. He said he only did what any other man who would protect the virtue of his sister would have done under the circumstances.

After escaping from the Georgia prison Morris traveled about and afterwards came to Greensboro. He lived here for several years, making his residence on Center street. While here he was engaged in the insurance business. During his stay in this city he made many friends and no one dreamed that he had ever been inside a prison.

After leaving Greensboro he went to Danville and soon afterwards secured a position on the police force in that city. He made an excellent officer and was soon afterwards promoted to the position of sergeant. Five years ago he was elected chief of police and his record since that time, Danville people say, has been a most excellent one. Some years ago he was presented with a solid gold badge by the people of Danville as a token of appreciation of his work.

It is understood that the Danville people will bring strong pressure to bear on the Governor of Georgia to secure a pardon for Morris.

Officer Smith discovered several weeks ago that Morris was the man who escaped from prison and at once set about to secure requisition papers.

These were secured yesterday morning and soon thereafter Morris was placed under arrest. He will be taken to Atlanta.

HAIR TELLS CHARACTER.Color of Hair Said to Indicate a Person's Temperament.

Many people believe that blonde, or light hair denotes affection and dark hair constancy. A person without hair is not devoid of character; far from it. The disposition of the average bald-headed man is to show such solicitude for the welfare of others, that he neglects himself. A germ causes baldness. Prof. Sabouraud, of Paris, France, inoculated a rabbit with Dandruff germs, causing it to become totally bald in five weeks' time. To rid the scalp of these dangerous germs it is necessary to apply Newbro's Herpicide.

The Eagle's First Flight.

H. B. McPherson gives a dramatic account of the first flight of an eagle whose life from babyhood he had watched. One day he ventured to the edge of the cliff containing his cradle and looked about. Suddenly his mother swung past on silent wings and tried to tempt him from his fastness." But he was unwilling or afraid. Again the mother hovered round, and a wild, weird cry rang through the glen. "For the first time I had heard the yelp of the adult eagle, the voice of the queen of birds calling to her young. The eaglet cheeped continuously until he flapped to the very edge of the abyss, listening to her call. And now he too, changed his cry; his voice seemed to break, and the adult yell burst from his throat. The eagles called to each other, yelp answering yelp. The young eagle gazed round him, spread out his giant wings and vanished forever from my sight among the ledges below. The eaglet had left the nest and had flown."

Baboons and Water.

In Captain Drayson's "Sporting Scenes Among the Kaffirs" we find the following: "Well," said Kemp, "when I go into a country where there is not much water I always take my baboon." "You don't drink him, do you?"

"No, but I make him show me water." "How do you do that?" "In this way: When water gets scarce I give the Bayan none. If he does not seem thirsty I rub a little salt on his tongue. I then take him out with a long string or chain. At first it was difficult to make him understand what was wanted, for he always wished to go back to the wagons. Now, however, he is well trained. When I get him out some distance I let him go. He runs along a bit, scratches himself, shows his teeth at me, takes a smell up wind, looks all round, picks up a bit of grass, smells or eats it, stands up for another sniff, canters on, and so on. Wherever the nearest water is there he is sure to go."

Warning to Railroad Men

Look out for severe and even dangerous kidney and bladder trouble resulting from years of railroading. Geo. E. Bell, 639 Third St., Fort Wayne, Ind., was many years a conductor on the Nickel Plate. He says: "Twenty years of railroading left my kidneys in terrible condition. There was a continual pain across my back and hips and my kidneys gave me much distress, and the action of my bladder was frequent and most painful. I got a supply of Foley Kidney Pills and the first bottle made a wonderful improvement and four bottles cured me completely. Since being cured I have recommended Foley Kidney Pills to many of my railroad friends." Howard Gardner.

Fleet Footed Postmen of Venice. Probably the letter carriers in Venice are the most ingenious in the world. They know how to dodge every waterway, turning up on their routes with a precise regularity that convinces you they have mapped every scrap of the damp city's dry land on their brains. If you go to your destination by gondola they can beat you thereto by a good bit of time. What they know about canals has been applied by them to navigation on land, and they know every tiny street in the city.

Of course there are postoffice gondolas, too, gay yellow things that quite outcolor the yellow sunlight, and any day you happen over the bridge of the Rialto you will see them all fastened to their red and gold poles just underneath the old palatial Fondaco del Tedeschli, which centuries ago by decree of the Venetian senate two famous architects of early days, Girolamo Tedesco and Giorgio Spavento, built for the use of the many German merchants then living in Venice (somewhere about the year 1505).—Travel Magazine.

The Mystery of a Duel.

Having fought his duel and saved his honor by firing a shot in the air, the editor of a French provincial newspaper went back to his desk, and the incident had quite left his mind when he felt something strange in his thigh. He looked and found that he was bleeding profusely. A doctor was called, who discovered that a bullet was imbedded in the editor's thigh some two inches deep and required extraction. "Why was this not taken notice of on the spot where the duel took place?" he asked. The editor was as much in the dark as the doctor. At the moment of the duel he had fired into the air, and his adversary also took a distracted sort of aim. There had evidently been no intention of doing the slightest harm on either side. The editor felt nothing as he left the field and had shaken hands with his antagonist as a sign of reconciliation. How bullet came to be lodged in his thigh was simply one of the mysteries of dueling.—London Telegraph.

An Irish Grand Prix.

There was once an Irish Grand Prix. The horse that lowered the French colors was the property of an eccentric Irishman named Conolly and was a big, bony roan, not much to look at in the way of horseflesh, so it was a great surprise to everybody but his owner when he came in first. His previous record at the English Derby the preceding year had not been brilliant enough for anybody to lay any large bets on him, with the sole exception of Conolly himself, whose faith in his entry was so great that he mortgaged his lands and put every cent on the horse. Up to the very end of the race everybody looked on Conolly as a ruined man, but when the roan shot first under the wire he not only carried the British colors to victory, but won a great fortune for his master. This happened in the time of Napoleon III, and Conolly was so proud of his triumph that he insisted on walking ahead of the emperor and empress, cheering and waving his hat.—New York Press.

We, the People.

The phrase "We, the people of the United States," in the preamble of the constitution read in the first draft of the constitution as follows: "We, the people of New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia, do ordain, declare and establish," etc. Though unanimously adopted by the convention, the wording had to be changed to "We, the people," simply because the constitution, which had not as yet been ratified, was to go into effect when ratified by nine states, and, not knowing which states were to ratify, the naming of the states was, of course, out of the question.—New York American.

The Chinese Gong.

The bugle does not sound the call to meals on the Pacific liners, as is the Atlantic habit. Instead a Chinaman pats a gong gently, and its booming echoes find the ear, no matter how remotely located. The gong is the quintessence of vibration. It sets waves of sound into motion that reverberate from every barrier. It moans or defies according to the strength with which it is struck. No wonder the Chinese used it in battle to scare the foe!—New York World.

His First Voyage.

The old sailor came along with a bucket of tar.

"What are you doing?" gasped the seasick passenger feebly.

"Pitching the deck, sot," responded the salt, with a deep sea salute.

"Pitching the deck? Great Scott! Isn't it pitching enough already?"—Chicago News.

A Serious Predicament.

"How can he afford to keep an automobile?"

"He can't, but he has to keep one to prevent people from finding out that he is too hard up to afford it."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Hugging a Delusion.

Willie—Father, what does hugging a delusion mean? Father—Well, my boy, young Mr. Strong is an instance. He thinks your sister Clara is only twenty-two!

"It's far better to love and be poor than be rich with an empty heart."—Lewis Morris.

EDITORS ARE SAYING.

Some State Primary History.

Reforms may come slow, but they come surely. In 1900, Mr. Cameron Morrison and the editor of this paper and other Democrats secured a plank in the Democratic State platform favoring a State primary. It was defeated in the Legislature and delayed. But yesterday the Senate passed the Hobgood act and the House will no doubt be glad to do likewise.—Raleigh News and Observer.President Benehan Cameron.

Yesterday at the meeting of the stockholders of the North Carolina Railroad, Col. Benehan Cameron was chosen president of that road to succeed Hon.
Chas. M. Stedman, who resigned because of his election to Congress. The selection is an excellent one. Col. Cameron's father and kin were leading spirits in the construction of the road and have long been large stockholders in this valuable property in which the State is a three-fourths stockholder.Col. Cameron is one of North Carolina's most progressive and public-spirited citizens, has much practical knowledge of railroad affairs, and is always among the foremost citizens in all measures for the advancement and development of the State.This position is one that has been filled by a number of the State's first citizens, and Col. Cameron ranks with the best of them. His selection is a guarantee that State's interests will be faithfully protected, for he has the old-fashioned high conception of a public trust.—Raleigh News and Observer.

The Pathfinder.

After all, North Carolinians are a conservative people. Perhaps they are too conservative, too prone to follow in the footsteps of the past, too wary of changes for their own good. This tendency shows itself to a very large extent in respect to government and municipal affairs generally. But there is one town in the State that has taken the lead in several respects and has, by its course boldly proclaimed that it is not afraid to adopt modern progressive methods of municipal government. That town is Greensboro, and the progressive step taken was the adoption of a commission form of government. Her sister municipalities in North Carolina will closely watch Greensboro for the next two years and study her success with government by a commission rather than government by ward politics.
North Carolinians, as a rule, are "from Missouri"—they ask to be shown.
Greensboro has accepted the responsibility and has assumed the task of "showing" us.All who see the defects in municipal systems prevailing in the State today will wish the Gate City success in her mission as a "pathfinder."Just in line with Greensboro's progressiveness in municipal matters is the eminence taken by Guilford county in the matter of good roads. Even the Charlotte Chronicle admits their superiority over the roads of Mecklenburg.—

by Mr. R. W. Haywood, yesterday passed under the control of Messrs. J. T.

paper men from Alabama, who will conduct the paper in the future. Mr. Haywood has made the Telegram a "live wire" as a local newspaper and The Patriot regrets to see him give up newspaper work in Greensboro. He is a fuent writer and an indefatigable worker and has always conducted a clean and progressive newspaper. His successors have The Patriot's best wishes. Mr.
Haywood has made no announcement as to his plans for the future, but it is to be assumed that he will not get very far away from newspaper work.—Greensboro Patriot.The Telegram believes in publicity in

The Norfolk Water Commission has asked the Legislature of North Carolina to pass an enabling act which would permit this city to obtain its drinking water from the Chowan river.Without having any information regarding the cost or the difficulties, it would be impossible to give backing or disapproval to the plan; but the thought of getting a water supply from the "Old North State" is certainly pleasing.Norfolk owes some of its richest blood to North Carolina, why not the other fluid so necessary to life. Few cities in the Tar Heel Commonwealth have so many native "Down Homers" as has Norfolk; and for few, if any of the North Carolina cities have Carolinians done so much as they have for this town on the Elizabeth.Not merely in the numerical sense are the Carolinians an important part of this city's population. In influence, aggressiveness and real ability they make a fraction even larger than their numbers warrant. If it can be shown that the Chowan river is the logical and best source of water supply, Norfolk will secure her water there, for the "Down Homers living here will see to that.—

GREENSBORO WOMEN

IN CHARLOTTE YESTERDAY

Delegation Spent Day As Guests of Woman's Club of Charlotte.

About thirty members of the Woman's Club spent yesterday in Charlotte, the guests of the Woman's Club of that city. Mrs. Al Fairbrother furnished the Telegraph with the following account of the day's activities:

Members of the Woman's Club of Greensboro who, in company with the Woman's Club of High Point were, as guests of the Woman's Club of Charlotte, accorded the freedom of the city, are enthusiastic over their reception and the delightful incidents which filled to overflowing a day in which there was not a discordant note. The carefully arranged and perfectly executed program proved to the visitors that much time and thought had been spent on plans for their entertainment, and there was no mistaking the warmth of their pleasure as hostesses of such a representative body of progressive club women.

The visitors went up on a special car attached to No. 11, leaving Greensboro at 7:30 a.m. They were met at Charlotte by committees from the Woman's Club and taken to the beautiful home of Mrs. J. E. Reiley, in Dilworth, where an informal reception was held and the guests assigned to the homes of the different club members who were to entertain at luncheon. Mrs. Reiley is president of the State Federation of Clubs, and those who had never had the privilege of meeting her were glad of this opportunity to know the woman who has been such a force in the club movement in North Carolina, and who is so universally beloved by her coworkers. The object of this reception was primarily to meet Mrs. Reiley and to refresh the early risers, whose breakfast had been necessarily brief, with a refreshing cup of hot tea and other things welcome to the tired traveler.

After being most hospitably entertained in private homes, the hostess, club and visitors met again at 3 o'clock at the home of Mrs. C. C. Hook, president of the Charlotte Club, where the Reciprocity day program, consisting of short talks and addresses, followed a brief business session.

Mrs. Reiley, speaking for the state federation, explained that all the woman's clubs were largely philanthropic, mentioning, among other things, the 14 scholarships now in force through its educational department and other work of like character. She announced that, through her efforts, Mrs. Moore, president of the National Federation of Woman's Clubs, had promised to attend the meeting of the state federation in Asheville, in May, and extended to every lady present an invitation to the annual convention.

Thoughtful of their guests and considerate of their comfort to the end, each lady on leaving was presented with a pretty box tied with ribbon, which, on opening was found to contain the daintiest kind of a lunch, with a card upon which was written, "Compliments of Household Economics Department."

A perfect day, fine spirits and high, good humor on every hand, everything combined to make Reciprocity Day a day of mutual pleasure and mutual profit for the 200 bright women who met and mingled and exchanged ideas on this notable and altogether delightful occasion.

Beggars and Bandages.

It was a case in which first aid to the injured was imperative, but no one present knew how to extend the aid. Presently a bandaged beggar who had been sitting on the curb cast off his pretense of helplessness. Out of linen strips provided by the women in the crowd he fashioned bandages and applied them skillfully.

"Where did you acquire all that skill in nursing?" a bystander asked.
"It is one of the first things the men of our profession learn," was the candid response. "Half our success depends upon arrangement of bandages that makes us look as if we had been half killed. No doctor can be depended on to fix us up, so we have to do our own bandaging. Every successful man in the business practices on himself and the other fellows until he can turn out a first class job." —New York Sun.

Johnny Roche's Tower.

Standing on the banks of the river Avberg, between Mallow and Fermoy, County Cork, Ireland, is a remarkable edifice known as "Johnny Roche's Tower." The whole tower was built by the labor of one man, who subsequently resided in it. This individual, who received no education whatever, also erected a mill, constructing the water wheel after a special design of his own. Long before the introduction of the bicycle he went about the country in a wheeled vehicle of his own construction, propelled by foot power. His last feat was to build his tomb in the middle of the river bed. John Roche died, but was not interred in the strange burying place which he selected for himself, his less original relatives deeming such a mode of sepulture unchristian.—London Strand Magazine.

Truly Answered.
Boats trading in the Medway in former years rejoiced in rather curious times, and the following was only one of the many amusing incidents resulting from this:
A boat named What's That to You? passing a lockyard at nighttime was called us usual by the coast guards.
Boat ahoy! Your captain's name?
Captain X.
And what are you laden with?
Coals.
Where bound for?
Charlton.
Ship's name?
What's That to You?
I asked you the name of the ship.
What's That to You?
You shall be reported for your insolence! roared the coast guardman. Again he put the question, and, receiving the same reply, the boat was commanded to remain where she was. In the morning two boats were seen keeping guard. The officials, as they boarded the vessel with full authority to seize the offenders, observed for the first time the name painted in large letters. Amid the laughter and jeers of the crew of the What's That to You? they pulled moodily away.—London Telegraph.

Political Passions of 1844.
There were elements of picturesqueness and drama in the politics of the before the war time which are lacking nowadays. Marion Harland tells in her autobiography of a Whig rally which makes the political meetings of today seem tame, cut and dried affairs. It was in 1844, the year of Clay's defeat, and feeling ran high. At that particular time John Tyler was perhaps the most unpopular man in the Union. In the progress of his review of national affairs the orator at last came to the hated name. Instantly uprose the majestic figure of Captain Cooley, the local eccentric, clad in the scarlet English hunting coat he invariably wore. "The Lord have mercy upon the nation!" he cried, his voice solemn with wrath and sonorous with the mint juleps for which the Bell was noted. "Fellow citizens, I always cry to high heaven for mercy upon this country when John Tyler's name is mentioned! Amen and amen!"

Distilled Gold.
The investigations of a French chemist show that gold in the electric furnace boils freely at a temperature of 2,400 degrees C. In two or three minutes, it is said, from 100 to 150 grams of gold pass into the state of vapor. In condensing upon a cold body this golden vapor forms filiform masses and cubic crystals. At its temperature of ebullition gold dissolves a little carbon, which at the time of resolidification is deposited in the form of graphite. In an alloy of gold and copper, copper distills first. In an alloy of gold and tin, the tin distills more abundantly than the gold, and when a large quantity of these mixed vapors is taken the tin burns on contact with the oxygen of the air, forming oxide of tin, colored purple by a fine dust of condensed gold. This is one method of preparing the color known as "purple of Cassius."—Harpers Weekly.

Japanese Children.
The Japanese child is exceedingly shy and retiring before its elders, and girls are taught to practice this more than boys. In the morning as soon as they are up the children go to their parents in turn bow their heads to the ground and say "Good morning" or "How is your honorable health?" Before a meal they lift the chopsticks to their foreheads and bow in thanks, whether their parents are present or not, for the meal set before them. Before going out to school or elsewhere and on returning they must kneel before the mother and bow. When father or mother go out the children must go to the porch, kneel down and say "Deign to go forth" or "Honorable return," as the case may be. As soon as infants can bow their heads the nurses train them in these respectful salutations.—Exchange.

The Effects.
I have come to you, my friend, for comfort. My best girl has treated me very badly. I was trying to explain something to her, but she gave me such sharp looks they cut me to the heart; she withered me with her scorn, crushed me with her coldness, and stabbed me with her keen edged tongue.

See here, man, you oughtn't to come to me for comfort. What you need is to go to a hospital for treatment.—Baltimore American.

Did They "Hock" Them.
In the olden days they had no watches, you know," said the father. "And how did they tell the time?" asked the son.

"By sundials." Well, father," said the young man, feeling of his watchless chain, "how much could a fellow get on a sundial do you suppose?"—Yonkers Statesman.

Consistent Mrs. Biggle.
Della—Mrs. Biggle is passionately fond of cream, isn't she? Stella—Oh, my, yes! She's such a crank on cream she's going to have her husband cremated.—Boston Herald.

Certainly Helpful.
Optimist—Ah! It is cherishing our illusions that keeps us young.

Pessimist—Yes, but only if we cling to the illusion that we are still young.

M is a maxim that no man was ever enslaved by influence while he was fit to be free.—Johnson.

When the Hen Crows.
Willsford in his "Nature Secrets" (1658) writes:
"Beasts eating greedily and more than they used to do portend foul weather, and all small cattle that seem to rejoice with playing and sporting themselves foreshows rain. Oxen and all kinds of neat, if you do at any time observe them to hold up their heads and snuffle in the air or lick their hooves or their bodies against the hair, expect then rainy weather. Asses or mules rubbing often their ears or braying much more than usually they are accustomed presages rain. Hogs crying and running up and down with hay or litter in their mouths foreshows a storm to be near at hand. The little sable beast (called a deer) if much thirsting after blood it argues rain. The cock if he crows in the daytime very much or at sunsetting or when he is at roost at unusual hours, as at 9 or 10, expect some change of weather and that suddenly, but from fair to foul or the contrary. But when the hen crows good men expect a storm within doors and without."

Lured Into Bathing.
In a railway carriage chat the other day a London medical man told a good story which had come within his own experience. A mother was frequently bringing her child to him for treatment, but the doctor could discover nothing amiss except its need of a good wash. She was certain the infant was suffering from some terrible complaint and begged the doctor to do his best. He prescribed a daily wash with the water in which potatoes had been peeled. Never suspecting that this was merely a ruse to get the child washed, the mother followed the instructions to the letter. Rosy cheeks appeared, and a clean, healthy looking child gladdened the mother's heart. She sounded the doctor's praises everywhere and advised other mothers to test the efficacy of potato water. It never occurred to her that precisely the same result would have followed the daily application of soap and water.

A Spanish Ship Treasure.
In 1762 the largest bulk of treasure ever taken from a ship at sea was brought into London. It was the whole of the cargo of the Spanish ship Hermione, captured on May 21 by H. M. S. Active. The Hermione surrendered to the Active without an action, and the treasure was landed at Portsmouth and conveyed to London in twenty decorated wagons, with British colors over Spanish and an escort party of sailors. The strange procession reached London on Aug. 12, the day on which George IV. was born. On being sold the treasure realized £519,705 ls. 6d., and the share of the officers and men of the Active was as follows: The captain, £65,033 13s. 9d.; three commissioned officers, each £13,004 14s. 1d.; eight warrant officers, each £4,236 3s. 2d.; twenty petty officers, each £1,806 1s. 8d.; 158 seamen, each £485 5s. 4d.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Jury Penalties.
Nowadays no penalty is enforced when the twelve men chosen to form the jury are unable to agree upon a verdict. Formerly, however, a refractory jurymen was committed to prison and the verdict of the eleven was taken. In the reign of King Edward III. the judges decided that a verdict given by a majority was a nullity and recommended that the judges should carry the jury about with them in a cart till they should agree. The old custom that jurors should fast until they had agreed in their verdict prevailed long, but was mercifully relaxed somewhat in Tudor times, and during Queen Elizabeth's reign a banquet was usually given to the jury by the successful party to a suit.—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

Science and Cheese.
A medical authority kindly assures us that as long as cheese isn't decayed it will not affect the health of the consumer. This is a fact that we have suspected for a considerable time. But how is the ordinary cheese epicure to detect the difference unless he waits for results?

There is cheese so thoroughly disguised in the costume and aroma of decay that its proper standing on the sanitary testing table would puzzle a connoisseur.

For instance, there is the brand known as limburger.

And she unconsciously put her hands up to arrange the position of her hat.

Do They Practice What They Preach?

We buy for cash and sell for cash, but do our competitors who sell on credit practice what they preach? They preach credit, but when they buy their own goods they practice cash buying. They get a large discount by buying for cash, and they make a long profit by selling on credit. In some stores where they sell for cash or on credit, they will mark a shoe $3.00 for cash or $4.00 on credit, but most of the stores who sell on credit are afraid for you to know that they are charging you $1.00 a pair extra because you have them charged.

Brown Eyes and Color Blindness.

Color blindness is one of the great drawbacks to a large percentage of men who would enlist in the United States marine corps, according to the recruiting officers.

"We have a box filled with different colored yarn," said an officer of that branch of the service. "We ask the prospective recruit to pick out green, for instance. If he is color blind he will invariably pick all the red yarn. We place it all back in the box again and ask him to pick out the red. In nine cases out of ten will come the green."

"Another strange thing I have noticed is that most persons who are color blind have brown eyes. Once in awhile a person with eyes of different color is afflicted that way, but as a general rule they are persons with brown eyes."—Kansas City Star.

MOTHERS should be careful about colds and coughs that affect their children. It is not only dangerous but also cruel to experiment on little ones with unsafe and untried remedies. The baby as well as the older brother and sister should be given a safe and reliable remedy. Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup is such. A record of cures prove it. There is no danger to the child from its use. Simply give it as directed and it will afford, first, quick relief; second, speedy riddance of the cold and cough. Children like it because so pleasant to the taste, and mothers praise it because so prompt and effective. Homes that have this remedy handy, suffer no terrors.

Health and Happiness shared by Child and Mother.

Chicago, Ill.—Mrs. J. H. Bernstein, 18 N. Marshall Ave., writes: "I use Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup mainly for the baby's cough and cold. He had several colds and a winter, and the doctor said he had to give him a cold to cure him. I have also used it for myself for a sore throat, cold, and cold in the head, and found relief. I came to Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup when I was small, and mother used it for our colds and coughs; so you see I must be satisfied with it."

MOTHERS, if you or one of the children have cold or cough, hoarseness, bronchitis, croup, whooping-cough, grippe, etc., first trust that trustworthy remedy, Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, before you spend any of your money.

JUST Rheumacide IT CURES

Rheumatism and Blood Disease. The cause of rheumatism is excess uric acid in the blood. To cure rheumatism this acid must be expelled from the system. Rheumatism is an internal disease and requires an internal remedy. Rubbing with oil and liniment will ease the pain, but they will not cure rheumatism than paint will change the fiber of rotten wood.

Cures Rheumatism To Stay Cured. Science has discovered a perfect and complete cure called Rheumacide. Tested on hundreds of cases, it has effected marvelous cures. Rheumacide removes the cause, gets at the source from the inside, sweeps all poisons out of the system, tones up the stomach, regulates the bowels and kidneys. Facts About Giants.

That very few of the giants who have ever lived have been healthy or well formed recent researches prove beyond a doubt. All we know about Goliath is that he was very tall, but in the second book of Kings we read about another giant, who had more fingers than an ordinary human being,

and, according to modern scientists,

this is invariably a token of degeneracy.

Marcel Donnal saw at Milan a giant who was so tall that his body filled two beds at night, but whose legs were so weak that he could hardly stand upright. William Evans, the gigantic porter of Charles I., had little strength, and Cromwell's porter, another giant, ended his days in a lunatic asylum. Finally, O'Brien, the Irish giant, has been described as "an enormous sick child who grew up to fast."

Another Fake.

"Did you see the 'lightning calculator' in the sideshow?" asked the old farmer in the wide straw hat.

"By heck, yes," drawled the other ruralite, "and he was the biggest fake

in the show."

"How was that?"

"Why, thar was a thunderstorm going on while I was in the tent and when I asked him if he could calculate

where the lightning was going to strike

he just gave me the laugh!"—Chicago News.

A Ominous Symptom.

"A good wife is heaven's greatest gift to man and the rarest gem the earth holds," remarked Mr. Japhry

the other morning. "She is his joy,

his inspiration and his very soul.

Through her he learns to reach the true and true, and her loving hands

lead him softly over the rough places.

She is!"

"Jeremiah," said Mrs. Japhry solemnly—"Jeremiah, what wickedness

have you been up to now?"

Doubled In Value.

A Missourian who bought some

Texas land and wanted to unload it told a prospective buyer that it had

"doubled in value since I bought it."

"But," said the other, "you offered to sell it to me for the same price you paid. How has it doubled in value?"

"Well, you see, I gave twice as much as it was worth."—Kansas City Star.

The Real Need.

In negro households, especially in communities where negroes form a large portion of the population, it frequently happens that the woman is the head of the family, being not only the breadwinner, but also the discipli-narian, and in that capacity on occasions she regards her putative lord and master as subject to her will. This is at least the assumption of the colored woman who was a party to a little scene enacted in the office of a justice of the peace.

A man had been arrested on the charge of beating and cruelly misusing his wife. After hearing the charge against the prisoner the Justice turned to the first witness.

"Madam," he said, "this man were your husband and had given you a beating would you call in the police?"

The woman addressed, a veritable amazon in size and aggressiveness, turned smiling countenance toward the Justice and answered:

"No, judge. If he was mah husban'

an' he treated me lak he did 'is wife

Ah wouldn't call no p'lice man. No.

nah! Ah'd call de undertaker."—

Flexibility of English.

English is not only, as Richard Jefferies asserted, the most expressive and flexible of tongues, but also, in Swinburne's opinion, the most musical.

He proclaimed the lines—

Music that gentiles on the spirit lies

Than tired eyelids upon tired eyes

To be unmatched for melody in any language. And few would venture to contradict such a master of music and tongues. But surely French ranks next on the roll of languages. For clearness of diction it is unrivaled,

and, thanks to its abundance of vowels

(close in one for every consonant)

it flows rhythmically from the tongue.

Against Westley's dictum, that French

is German as a bagpipe to an organ,

may be cited a saying of another famous divine, Dr. Dollinger, "L'Alle-

Come to the Hodgins school in the evening at eight.

March the eighth and don't be late. Enclosed you will find a little sack. Please send or bring this back.

The Important Personage.

"Are you the owner of this place?" asked the book agent.

MEETING COUNTY MEDICAL MEN

Royster described the several treatments and pointed out the fallacies of several. The address was declared to be a most helpful one by the doctors present.

Following the address there was a general discussion led by Dr. J. W. Long, many helpful points being brought out. After the discussion sandwiches and cigars were served. There was a large attendance, physicians from all parts of the county being present.

The Gullible Public:
Two boulevardiers of Paris told how they proved the gullibility of the public. They bet a friend 1,000 francs that by inserting three advertisements of three lines each in papers in the course of a week they would receive 500 francs without giving any explanation or making any promise to the senders.

On a Saturday the following advertisement appeared:

"Intelligent persons will send 5 francs to such an address."

On the Wednesday the insertion ran:

"Last possible day is Sunday. Send your 5 francs then, or refusal."

The third on the following Saturday was:

"All 5 francs posted after tomorrow will be inexorably refused."

By the Sunday morning seventy-seven postal orders for 4 shillings each had come in, and the next morning forty-two more arrived. The gullible public had sent in not 500 francs, but 795 francs in a week. Having proved their point and won their bet, the two boulevardiers naturally returned the postal orders to the ingenuous senders.

English of Long Ago.

The king's English has changed as kings have come and gone, says the St. James' Gazette. Here is a passage from the record of a crowning of long ago: "The Cardinal, as Archibishop of Canterbury, showing the king to the people at the three parties of the said pulpit, shall say in this wise, 'Sirs, I here present Henry (true) and rightful, and undoubtedly heir to the laws of God and man to the coroune and roiall dignite of England, with all things therunto ennexed and appertenynge, electe, chosen and required by all three estats of the same land to tak yppon him the said coroune and roiall dignite, whereupon ye shall understand that the daie is prefixed and appoynted by all the piers of this land for the consecration, envcacion and coronacion of the said most excellent Prince Henry; will ye, sirs, at this tyme geve your wiles and essentes to the same consecration, envcacion and coronacion? Whereupon the peple shall saie, with a great voice, 'Ye, Ye. So be hit. King Henry! King Henry!'"

Waighing the Mayor.

A mayor, particularly an English mayor, is traditionally a man of weight and substance, but there is only one municipality that insists that his honor get on the public scales and prove it. Of the thousands of quaint and curious customs surviving in "the old country" this is perhaps one of the most odd. The mayor of High Wycombe has to be weighed on Nov. 9 of each year, inauguration day, and this custom has been observed for about six centuries. The mayor elect walking at the head of a procession consisting of the councilors, the beadle and the mace bearer. He is clad in cocked hat, silk stockings, blue coat and knee-breeches. Upon reaching the town-hall the mayor is weighed upon the scales by the town constable, and a record of his avoidrups is solemnly made in a book kept for this purpose.—Harper's Weekly.

R. L. England, the Fastest and Most Expert Land Auctioneer.

Columbia State: The largest sale of town lots ever made at public sale in the State of South Carolina was made at St. George today by R. L. England of the Piedmont Realty and Auction Company of Greensboro, N. C. It was the general expression of the real estate men present from this and other states that England is the fastest and most expert land auctioneer that ever visited South Carolina. He was on the block from 10 a. m. until 4:30 p. m., selling over $14,000 worth of lots in a town of less than 2,000 inhabitants. England will have a sale of town lots at Johnston, S. C., on Saturday of this week.
